

I listen to K-LOVE on my way to and from work and find it a welcome respite from the onslaught of the secular world. The potential for K-LOVE to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing other programming seriously concerns me. Unlike a lot of the radio programming, I can feel good about letting my young children listen unsupervised to K-LOVE programming. I believe that K-LOVE is serving the public interest by providing wholesome, family friendly programming.